

Hello, I am Nico!

I am currently studying microsystems engineering at OTH. During my school days, I realized early that I was interested in natural sciences. Now I can deepen this in my studies in a future-oriented manner. In addition, later in your professional life you have many opportunities to work in many different areas.

If you have any questions about studying microsystems engineering or about Regensburg, please feel free to contact me at any time:)

nicolas.runge@st.oth-regensburg.de