

Application for admission to the Industrial Design Program (Bachelor Degree), OTH Regensburg, School of Architecture

Please note: the iD program in Regensburg is taught mostly in German. You will need a written and spoken command of the German language for your application process to be successful.

The application period runs from May 1st through June 15th, 2017.

1. Applicants must register at the online-application platform first. Your portfolio must be attached to the online-application as a digital pdf-file, tagged surname_first name_application number.pdf.
2. As a second step the application documents (not the portfolio) must be printed and signed and sent by regular mail to the OTH Regensburg.
3. Your portfolio should include 10 to 15 examples of work, the total size of file must not exceed 20 MB. What kind of works are we looking for? For example of drawings (black-white and color), photographic work, images of three dimensional models, and print-outs of computer-generated work – whatever you choose to submit, keep in mind that we value quality over quantity. It doesn't matter if you submit drawings, design drafts, paintings or other kinds of creative work – we are mainly interested in the depth of your creative engagement, your curiosity and your skills. Simply choose your best work and make sure you submit a variety of subjects and techniques. It is not necessary that all the pieces relate directly to Industrial Design.

The portfolio-file must contain your name, address and applicant's number and include the following documents: curriculum vitae / resume (1 A4 page), letter of motivation (1 A4 page), and a written and signed statement, certifying that the submitted samples are exclusively your own work and intellectual property. Requests for individual portfolio reviews or private consultations cannot be considered.

The deadline for submitting your portfolio is June 15, 2017. Please note that this is the date your application has to be received by the University of Applied Sciences Regensburg. Late submissions will not be considered.

By July 1, 2017 approved candidates will have received an invitation to the entrance exam by e-mail. The exam will take place on Tuesday, July 11, 2017, and is only open to approved candidates. Registration will start at 8:00 a.m., the exam itself is scheduled from 9:30 to late afternoon. All other information will be submitted to the selected candidates by e-mail.
