Business Program in English

Program Coordinator: Prof. Dr. vom Kolke

HOCHSCHULE
REGENSBURG
UNIVERSITY
OF APPLIED
SCIENCES

Module Title
Security Studies (SES)

Module Code	Hours per week	Duration
SES	4	1 Semester

Module Instructor	Lecture type	Pre-requisite(s)
Prof. Dr. Markus Bresinsky	Interactive seminar with group exercises	none

Objectives

This course is intended to make students aware to the international security issues, the interdependencies between political, economic, military, and social factors, and give insights into the development of products for the purpose of consultant, briefing, and decision-support.

Understand the issues of international and global security challenges

➢ Know how to analyze the actor, structures and processes of international security challenges
➢ Know how to develop a systemic and comprehensive model of specific security issues
➢ Know how to develop future scenarios and discuss measures of security policy
➢ Know how to apply specific analysis procedures (e.g. NATO Comprehensive Operational Planning Directive (COPD), Business Process Models)

Content

➢ Administration & Organization; Introduction
➢ Develop definition of security and security challenges
➢ Introduction into planning and analysis tools
➢ Definition of subject matter of interest
➢ Developing work plan and research design
➢ Work groups and plenum discussion
➢ Symposium

Students are invited to develop their own problem statements and topics for research. As the course is designed as research based learning, students are expected to prepare information and reading outside the course sessions

Grading/ Evaluation: Written essay (English) 1500 words	ECTS-Credits: 5

Text book/ teaching material: Reading of literature, scientific working style, and self-commitment to work groups is mandatory!